same line. Their earliest and main contention was that they proposed to reduce the tariff less than five dollars on the $100. The Intelligencer has shown from the official record that the proposed re-duction under the Mills bill is $27 on the $100 on all the schedules touched by the

The point to which it is now proposed to call attention is that the tariff percentages may go up or down without any change in the rates provided by law. It would be easy to establish this patent fact by reference to the Treasury record from the beginning of the Government till now. It will be enough to refer to the official record since the passage of the tariff act of 1883. The following shows the average advalorem duty each year on dutiable imports:

From 1884 to 1885 the average advalorem rate on dutiable imports increased; the next year it fell; the next year it increased and last year, being the fiscal year 1888, it again fell. These variations under the same law are due to the rise and fall of values in the countries of export, a specific duty, that is to say, so much on the pound or yard, being equivalent to a higher advalorem there is a greater competition with the American product and there is more need of such a tariff as will protect American labor.

[Pricate.]

"Sin:—I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th inst., and beg to say that I fully appreciate the difficulty in which you find yourself in casting your vote. You are probably aware that any political party which openly favored the mother country at the present moment would loss popularity, and that the party in power is fully aware of this fact. The party, however, is, I believe, still desirous of maintaining friendly relations with Great Britain, and is still as desirous of settling all questions with Canada, which have been unfortunately re-openad since the retraction of the treaty by the Republican majority in the Senate and by the President's message, to which you alinde. All allowances must, therefore, be made for the political situation as regards the Presidential election thus created. It is, however, impossible to predict the course which President Cleviand may pursue in the matter of retaliation should be be elected; but there is every reason to believe that, while upholding the position he has taken, he will manifest a spirit of conciliation in dealing with the question involved in his message. I enclose an article from the New York Times of August 29; and remain, yours faithfully.

"L. S. SACKVILLE-WEST."

"Beverley, Mass., Sept. 12, 1888."

The letter was first made public by the Los Angeles (Cal.) Times on Sunday last. It sauthenticity has since been admitted by Minister West. The article in the New York Times referred to ends with this passage:

"There is this further consideration in favor of supporting the Administration is attained."

The grand manifest a spirit of conciliation in facilities of the course of the course of the church choir is the one who while he says little always watches his chants.

"There is this further consideration in favor of supporting the Administration on this issue. It will leave the question still open for friendly means of settlement of some kind, while a support of the Senate's position would close all avenues of future negotiations and bring upon the country the disastrous consequences of retaliation, hostility and possible war. It would put an end to all prospect of improving the commercial relations of the United States and Canda. This is one of the questions which leaves the statement of the support of the statement of the support of the support of the statement of the support of the su

The London Times and the Tory Government seem to be in a hole and foundering baddy. The cause of Ireland cannot be throttled in their way.

The people of West Virginia are turning out to hear the tariff question discussed. Questions of twenty-five years ago have little attraction for the people of this State.

To-day's article on Prohibition in Maine will suggest sundry things to thoughtful minds. If the writer tells the truth prohibition as it is seen in the State of its birth offers no advantages from a moral point of view over local option as it is seen in West Virginia. And this is the point to be determined by the Voters of West Virginia.

The letter has called forth columns of editorials in this city, and has made a great stir among the politicians. On all died is locally and the lord will be ability. Editor Dana says in the San: "If this letter is an audacious forgery, "If the more so dies is let without an hour's delay. If it is such without an hour's delay. I A COSTLY BLUNDER FOR CLEVELAND.

Moreover it is an impertinent interference in our domestic affairs which should at once lead to the recall of the offending representative of the British Crown.

The other end of the affair the American people can attend to for themselves. Fortunately they have in their own hands the necessary weapon. Mr. Cleveland is the first President of the United States in whose behalf so indecorous a thing has been done. It stamps him way in the now rejected treaty of which

At Democratic headquarters there is evidently great uneasiness as to the effect of the disclosure upon Irish-American voters. An effort is made to treat the matter slightly, but the anxiety "felt cannot be concealed. The British Minister is roundly denounced for presuning to instruct an American citizen how to vote, but the damaging fact remains that England's official representative in this country has issued a certificate that Cleveland is England's candidate. candidate.

What Do They Say?"

Have they asked them-your neighbors? Good plan. It profiteth one much sometimes to know what the neighbors think. In Washington-where one of our large stores has done, and continues to do, a stunning business-we get a deal of trade from the neighbors "say-so." It's the best advertising in the world. Same here. You've some neighbor who's had a chamber set, or a parlor suit, or a stove, or some carpets, or something of us, and we haven't been here very tion to this department this long, either. Ask them what they think of our credit system. Ask them if everything we say isn't just so. Ask them how they like buying ten dollars worth of goods for one dollar down and fifty cents a week. Ask them and see what they say. We are willing.
